

Green Building Certifications: What Owners Should Know

Reports - Prepared by MAZARINI Research & Development

LEED, WELL, and other green building certifications each come with distinct requirements, documentation burdens, and cost implications. This report breaks down what property owners should weigh when deciding whether and which certification path fits their project goals and budget. Prepared by MAZARINI Contracting's Research & Development team.