

How Building Information Modeling (BIM) Is Changing Pr

Reports • Prepared by MAZARINI Research & Development

Building Information Modeling has shifted from a design visualization tool to a coordination backbone that spans architecture, engineering, and construction teams. This report looks at how BIM adoption affects clash detection, scheduling accuracy, and communication between trades on active job sites. Prepared by MAZARINI Contracting's Research & Development team.